Poetry.

Love in a Cottage.

Uncle Caleb and Ruth his wife,
Caring little for outside weather,
Fifty years of their wedded life
Spent in this tiny house together.

Mossy the roof and gray the wall,
Narrow the window, low the door;
But love's own sunlight hallowed it all
From rafted ceiling to sanded floor.

Silent to-day; but silver sweet
Voices of children long ago,
Keeping time to their restless feet,
Followed the mother to and fro.

Scattered afar from East to West,
Seeking their fortunes far and wide,
No one stays in the olden nest,
Where such beautiful memories hide.

Stranger feet on the time-worn stair
Wake the echoes of other days!
Stranger voices are lifted where
Caleb once "learned the tune" of praise.

Caring naught for the desolate pain
Of the wind in the pine-tree tops,
Caring naught for the grieving rain
That so sadly over them drops.

Heeding as little the sunbeam's kiss,
Falling sweet from the Summer sky,
In a narrower house than this
Caleb and Ruth together lie.

Up where the many mansions wait,
Is there, I wonder, a cottage small—
Not too stately its pearly gate,
Not too shining its golden wall—

Where these two may in peace abide?
Heaven were none if these must part—
Caleb away from her gentle side
Ruth afar from his faithful heart.

Hand in hand from morning to night
Traveled these two the long earth-day,
Sure they walk through the fields of light;
Hand in hand on the shining way:

Blessed love of husband and wife,
Love that lasted through cares and fears,
Filling this place with the chrism of life,
Peace unclouded for fifty years.

Selected Story.

John Cutts' Secret.

"Is Mr. Cutts in?" asked a gentleman who, having knocked at the door, was saluted by a woman from an upper window with, "Well, what's wanting now?"

"Is Mr. Cutts' in?"

"Yes, he's in or about somewhere, I suppose," she replied; "but I'm Mr. Cutts when any business is to be done. He's Mr. Cutt,s catin' and drinkin' and sleeping sometimes."

"Well, my good waman," said the gentleman, "I think he will be Mr. Cutts for my business too. I wish to see him."

"What do you want of him?" asked the shrew, thrusting her head still farther out of the window.

"To do something for me. But I must see himself," was the reply.

"Is it real business, for pay, or only a favor you want? I can let your hoss have a peck of oats, or I can direct you to the Four Corners, or I can—why! I can do anything for you that he could and a good deal more! I take the money and write the receipts, and pay the men, and take off the produce! I'm as good a judge of stock as he is, and can't be beat on horseflesh."

"But," said the gentleman, drawing down his face solemnly, "you can't take his place now. Find him for me at once."

The shrew was baffled. "Look-a-here, mister, maybe you don't know the circumstances of this case. This here farm is mine, and it was my father's afore me; and Cutts, he has no more claim to it than that hen down there has. And, besides, I'm seven years older than he is, a foot higher and weigh twenty pounds more! What's your business on my place, if I may make so bold?"

"To see and talk with your husband," replied the gentleman, getting out of his chaise and hitching his horse to a post, as if he meant to stay until he did see him.

"Be you a doctor? Cause there ain't a living thing the matter with Cutts. He's the wellest man in town, and so be I," said this woman, "for the times,"

"No, my good woman, I am not a doctor. Do you think your husband will be in soon? Send that boy to find him," said the stranger.

The boy looked up in his mother's face—but he knew his own interests too well to start without orders.

"Then you're a minister, I suppose, by your black coat. I may as well tell you and save your time, that we don't go to meeting, and don't want to. It ain't no use for you to leave no tracts for nothing—for I've got a big dairy hain't no time to idle away reading and I keep him about so early and late, that when he is done work he is glad to go to bed and rest."

"I am no minister, madam; I wish I was, though, for your sake," said the gentleman.

"Look here, mister, now appearing at the door and looking defiantly at him, "you're a schoolmaster hunting up a district school; and you think he is a committee-man; but he ain't this year."

"Send for your husband; I cant wait much longer. I must see him at once."

The boy started to his feet again, and looked in his mother's face; but she gave no marching orders.

"Ma'am Cutts," as the neighbors called her, dropped her hands at her side and heaved a groan. She had found a man she coulkn't manage.

"See here now, mister," she said, "I can read a man right through, and I knew what you was the blessed minute I clapped my eyes on you. I can tell by your everlastin' arguin' that you are a lawyer. We hain't got no quarrels; don't want no deeds drawed or wills made, so if you're huntin' a job of my husband, you may as well onhitch your horse and drive on. We know enough to make a little money, and I know enough to hold on to it."

"My good woman, you entirely misunderstand my errand. I can tell no person but himself what it is, and must tell him in confidence and alone. If he chooses he can break it to you the best way he can."

"O, my goodness sake alive! Brother Lif's blown up on the Mississipi boat, I bet! O, la me, the poor fellow! He left a little something, didn't he?"

"I never heard of him, and nobody is blowed up, that I know of," said the gentleman.

"O, now I know? You're the man what wants to go to Congress, and have come here hunting after votes. He shall not vote for you. I hate politicians, especially them that goes agin women, and thinks they was made to drudge and nothing else. I go in for free and equal rights for white folks—men and women—for Scripture says, 'there isn't neither men or women but all's one in politics.' I believe the day is coming when such as you and me will have to bow the knee to women, after you can get the big place and high pay that's a catin' us up with taxes! You can't see my husband. We are going to the polls on the way to the mill, and I'll promise you he votes right."

"I'm no candidate, and I don't know what you're talking about. Ah! there comes the man I want;" and the stranger went toward Mr. Cutts, who had just lowered a pair of bars which led from the potato-patch into the lane.

Mrs. Cutts flew into the house for her sun-bonnet, to follow them; but by the time she got to the bars, her mysterious visitor and Cutts were driving rapidly down the road.

The strong-minded woman shouted after her husband, "You'd better come back, I tell you!" but the wind was the wrong way, and carr ed her words into to potato-patch.

"Sir," said the gentleman to honest Cutts, "I have a very simple question to ask you, but I shall have to ask you in confidence. I will give you five dollars if you will promise not to repeat my words until to-morrow."

"Well, sir," replied Cutts, "I shouldn't like to answer any question that would make trouble among my neighbors. I have my hands full, I can tell you, to keep out of scrapes now; but I've done it, and hain't an enemy in the world, as I know."

"But, sir, you needn't reply to my question unless you are perfectly willing," said the stranger.

"Ask your question," said Cutts, "and I will not repeat it."

"Well, Mr. Cutts, I am laying fence on the Briskley place, that I have just bought, and I was directed to inquire of you where I could buy cedar pasts. A fellow in the store said, "Cutts can tell you, if his wife will let him, but she won't. She'll insist on telling you herself, and perhaps offer to drive you wherever you go to order them.

"I told them I would see you and ask you only; and the fellows bet on it. They to give you ten dollars, and to two or three widows in town a cord of wood each, if I succeeded in asking you this question alone, and making sure your wife does not know my business until after breakfast to-morrow morning."

Cutts knew his wife's standing too well to feel very sensitive, and taking the bill from the stranger, he smiled and said:

"I'll go with you to look out cedar posts, and keep dark, for the joke's sake; but I don't know as she'll let me stay in the house to night; I don't own it;" replied the good natured Cutts.

"Suppose you go the place and see to setting the posts. I will send a boy to tell her you had to go off suddenly on a little business, and will be back in the morning," said the stranger.

"I'll do that," replied Cutts, "for I never quarrel with her but let her have her own way. I don't want to worry myself about trifles."

"Good man," said the stranger, "there are trifles in this life. The smallest is important, and that easy nature of yours will ruin your family. Baffle that spirit to-day, and next Sunday take your boys and go to the house of God, whatever she says, and be a man—at the head of your own house and family."

"It's rather late to begin," said Cutts, shaking his head in a way that would have warned others from the trap into which his feet were fast.

"You see the purse is hers," he added, "and that has been a crueler fetter than her will to me. But I will try to begin anew, for her good and the children's."

The boy was sent with the message, but the boy wasn't sharp enough. Madame Cutts discovered the whereabouts of her lord, tackled up and went after him.

All the way home, and far into the night, she used her eloquence, both in pleadings and threatenings, to find out the mysterious errand of that hateful town nabob that had come into the country to separate happy families.

But Cutts yielded himself up to a 'dumb spirit' for the night, and no measures could induce him to talk on any subject, lest she should pry the mighty secret out of him.

About midnight she wore herself out and went to sleep; but at daybreak she began again. He then ventured to say, "As soon as breakfast is over, I'll break the news to you."

"You'll never eat a morsel in my house, I can tell you," cried Xantippe, "till you have told me what the man wanted of you."

"Then you'll wait a good while to hear it," said Cutts, "for I have vowed I'd never tell it till I had first eaten my breakfast," and with these words he went out.

Madame Cutts endured the torture as long as possible, and then got breakfast. She called to the door to no one in particular, "Come."

But Cutts didn't come. After a while she went out to the barn and found him seated on an upturned half-bushel measure, calmly peeling and eating a raw turnip.

"It does seem as if this man here had possessed you! Your breakfast is coolin' do come in."

Here was a point gained.

Cutts went in as required, and ate his breakfast. When that was over ma'am settled herself back in her chair with her face full of eager expectation, and said:

"Now begin. What did that ere man want?"

"He wanted some cedar posts," replied Cutts, calmly, without looking up; "and that was all."

If an arrow had struck Madame Cutts, she could not have manifested more surprise and shame.

"I am the laughing stock of this town," added Cutts "and from this hour I turn over a new leaf. I am henceforth the head of my family and unless this house is made mine, I shall finish off a room in the barn—which is mine—and you will be welcome to share it with me. If not I'll live there with my boys, and you'll find me a civil neighbor.

Ma'am Cutts' power was broken. Since then the farm has been called "John Cutts' place," and he's the head of the house.

The late Hon. Wm. P. Fessenden once made a remark which was interpreted as an insult to Mr. Seward. When informed of it, and seeing such a meaning could be given to his words, he instantly went to Mr. Seward and said: "Mr. Seward, I have insulted you; I am sorry for it. I did not mean it." This apology, so prompt, frank, and perfect, so delighted Mr. Seward, that, grasping him by the hand, he exclaimed: "God bless you, Fessenden, I wish you would insult me again.

"Popping the Question."

TO MODESTY.

We presume that you are endeavoring to ingratiate yourself into the favor of "fair sex," and would lead some "fair maiden" to the "hymeneal altar" ere long, if you could learn "what is the best method of popping the question," and, after having learned this, could sum up the moral courage to test the virtue of the method by experiment. We, after having had ten years experience in this line of business, feel satisfied that we can give you some information on the subject, which will be beneficial to you, and others who are candidates for the hymeneal altar.

As to the best method of popping the question, we very seldom find any two persons who will agree. Were we to endeavor to enumerate the number of ways that the question has been popped, we think it likely that we should give up in despair. Every person doubtless thinks his method is the best, if he is successful. There are however many objectionable ways. Some young men endeavor to use "high-flown language," when popping the question. We object to this. We think that if there ever should be a time when we ought to use plain language, when popping the question is the time. Many have disgusted their beloved ones and rendered themselves ridiculous by such foolishness. We have known men to write and commit to memory their language for such occasions; but we never knew of one's being successful who resorted to this means. They universally get a "No" at the end of their speech, which they richly deserve. Ladies can always tell when words are from the heart. We never knew one to be deceived. They know that such language can only come from the lips; and, therefore, take delight in giving a negative reply.

Others cannot sum up the courage to face a lady, but commit, what is to decide their fate, to paper. We object to this. Words on paper will not make much impression. But if you cannot pop the question any other way than by letters do it; but be careful to use your own language and not other people's. Let Chesterfield alone. Recollect that ladies often have such books too; and you might possibly get caught. Popping the question, to a modest young man, is very appalling, we know; but, however appalling it may be, he never should loose an opportunity. Whenever a lady gives a gentleman an opportunity, he—although he may tremble and feel his pulse throbbing through every limb, though his tongue cleaves to the roof of his mouth, and his heart flutters—he must perform the fearful task then, or he will not be very apt to have another given. Yes, he must out with it like a man. If he loves her, let him tell her so, and await the reply. When you begin to pop the question, never stop until you have finished it. We once knew a gentleman who, when popping the question, stammered it out; but he was successful. His "sweetheart" was named Bettie. One evening he, just when "old sol" was sinking beneath the western horizon, when promenading in the flower-garden as usual, which was not far distant from the house, resolved that he would ask the question which was to decide his fate. He resolved to delay no longer. He knew that delays were dangerous; so, he began as follows: "My Bettie—Dear—I—flowers—love— you—you—you—I—I—I—I—love you—Miss Bettie—I—" "Stop! stop!! stop!!!" said Bettie; "what did you say?" "Oh!" says the gentlemen, "I cannot speak that out again!" "Well, if you cannot speak it out again" said Bettie, "whisper it in my ear." This we guess he did, as they were married in a few weeks afterward. The last time we heard from them, they were living happily in their little cottage. Would "Modesty" like to know who they are? If so, behold the happiest family in Pasquotank County!

But the manner in which the question is popped, does not have much to do in rendering a person successful. If success depended upon this, doubtless many more marriages would take place than do. But there are other prerequisites. A gentleman must prove himself worthy of a lady before she can consent to become his bride—before she should consent to be his bride. If the gentlemen is unworthy of a lady; if he is in the habit of frequenting bar-rooms; if he engages in games of chance; if he is destitute of those principles which constitute and characterize a gentleman, the best method of popping the question will do him no good; for if the young lady does not reject him, the "old folks" will object to him.

But if, on the other hand, the gentleman is worthy of her; if he is possessed of those principles which constitute a true gentleman the stammering mode is as good as any.

Should "Modesty" wish any more information on the subject of popping the question, let him address "Student" at this College, Very Truly Yours,

Two Counselors for the South.

While this poor traitor and Rebel (Jeff. Davis) is scattering treason and inciting a new Rebellion, a man who weakly helped him out of prison, and who stands foremost among the noble leaders of Abolition and good government, is also making speeches in the South. Horace Greely, bondsman for Jefferson Davis, is there counseling peace, order law and Union. Beneficent and wise, he attracts vast crowds of Southerners to hear him, and if they are less enthusiastic over him, than over Jefferson Davis, they listen courteously and earnestly to his truer, better advice. The South can choose between these two men. Jefferson Davis gave them four years of war, waste, defeat, death on their hearthstones, and desolation in their fields. Horace Greely standing among them simply as the representative of the best feeling and intelligence of the North, offers them universal amnesty, peace, prosperity, a newer, better life than they ever knew, a more glorious future in the Union than they can ever gain outside of it. They know the two men, know that the latter speaking for the North, will make his prophecies true, and that Jefferson Davis will drench the South land again in blood and wrap it in flame—if he can.—From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

A Sailor's Love.

One little act of politeness will sometimes pave to fortune and preferment. The following sketch illustrates this fact:

A sailor, roughly garbed, was strolling through the streets of New Orleans, then in a rather damp condition from recent rain and rise of the tide. Turning the corner of a much frequented and narrow alley, he observed a young lady standing in perplexity, apparently measuring the depth of the muddy water between her and the opposite side-walk, with no very satisfied countenance.

The sailor paused, for he was a great admirer of beauty, and certainly the fair face that peeped out from under the little chip hat, and the auburn curls hanging glossy and unconfined over the muslin dress, might tempt a curious or an admiring glance. Perplexed, the lady put forth one little foot, when the gallant sailor, with impulsiveness, exclaimed, "That pretty foot, lady, should not be soiled with the filth of the lane; wait for a moment only, and I will make you a path."

So, springing past her into a carpenter's shop opposite, he bargained for a plank board that stood in the doorway and coming back to the smilling girl, who was just coquettish enough to accept the services of the handsome young sailor, he bridged the narrow black stream, and she tripped across with a merry "Thank you" and a roguish smile making her eyes dazzling as they could be:

Alas! our young sailor was perfectly charmed. What else would make him catch up and shoulder the plank, and follow the little witch through the streets to her home. She twice performed the cermony of, "walking the plank," and each time thanking him with one of her eloquent smiles! Presently our hero saw the young lady trip up the marble steps of a palace of a house, and disappear within its rosewood entrance. For a full minute he stood looking at the door, and then with a wonderful big sigh turned away, disposed of his drawbridge and wended his path back to his shop.

The next day he was astonished with an order of promotion from the captain. Poor Jack was speechless with amazement. He had not dreamed of being exalted to the dignity of a second mate's office on board of one of the most splendid ships that sailed out of the port of New Orleans. He knew he was competent; for instead of spending his money for amusement, visiting theatres and bowling alleys on his return from sea, he purchased books, and had become quite a student, but he expected years to intervene before his ambition hopes would be realized.

His superior officers seemed to look upon him with considerable leniency, and gave him many a fair opportunity to gather maritime knowledge, and in a year the handsome, gentlemanly young mate had acquired unusual favor in the eyes of the portly commander, Captain Hume, who had first taken the errant little black eyed fellow, with his neat tarpauline and tidy bundle, as the cabin boy.

One night the young man, with all the other officers, was invited to an entertainment at the captain's house. He went, and to his astonishment, mounted the identical step that, two years before, the brightest vision he had ever seen, passed over—a vision he had never forgotten. Thump, thump, went his brave heart as he was ushered into the parlor, and like a sledge hammer it beat again when Captain Hume brought forward his

THE ATTEMPT TO RECONSTUCT THE DEMOCRATIC SHIP.

The Democratic party have been floundering for a long number of years in the troughs of a tumultuous sea, which has been lashed into fury by the adverse winds which they have excited themselves. Their frail bark has struck often on moving sands and craggy rocks until now there is not a plank in the old, worn out craft but has been started from its place. The compass, too, has been sadly deranged for some time, and has failed to indicate the true course of the ship, which floats close by a lee shore, a dismantled and unmanageable hulk.

Feeling that she must soon go to irretrievable ruin, if left in her present condition, and that every plank and spar must be shivered into splinters amid the surrounding pressure of the irresistible strength of Republicanism, the officers have held a consultation, and resolved to make an attempt to rescue her from her perilous condition. The result of their deliberations is, that she must be "reconstructed" in accordance with the principles of existing naval science, and be entirely re-equipped. Every plank must be of Republican material. Her compass must be of Republican manufacture and adjustment, and, above all, the "dead reckoning" system under which she has made many unsuccessful attempts to reach the haven of political spoils, must be denounced and abandoned. The Democratic sun must be sunk into eternal night, and observation taken from the bright and unclouded Orb of the Republican party, which is now shining in its meridian strength and glory. A new point of "departure" must be taken, and when the old craft has been remodelled, caulked and painted in the bright colors of true Republican patriotism she will be ordered on a campaign cruise, with instructions given to the commander to always keep her sails filled with the favoring and favorable gales of Republican doctrines.

The Democracy have fought with a zeal and determination worthy of a better cause, against the recent Constitutional Amendments, which the changed condition of the country, produced by the late war imperatively demanded. They have sought to revive old strifes and threatened to make war on dead issues. They have now been convinced that the people of the country will neither lend their countenance nor their aid to any such policy, and have been constrained in consequence to step squarely onto the platform of doctrines for which the Republican party have so earnestly and successfully contended. This they have done, be it remembered, not from political conviction but from political necessity. The ADAMSES of Massachusetts and VALLANDIGHAMS of Ohio would be entitled to some degree of respect if they declared that their departure from their previous position was the result of conscientious conviction of duty to the country. But so far from this, they declare that the prospect of gaining political ascendency alone compels them to endorse the doctrines contained in the creed of Republican faith, but scorn the idea of adopting the name. They have appropriated the Republican platform and have the cool impudence to invite Republicans to step onto it.

UNCONSTITUTIONAL AND REVOLUTIONARY.

The Constitution of North Carolina expressly declares that no Convention of the people shall be called by the General Assembly, unless by the concurrence of two thirds of all the members of each House of the General Assembly. And yet in defiance of this emphatic provision the Democracy propose calling a Convention by a vote of the people, and in a manner not provided for nor warranted in the organic law. It is true that the Democratic leaders argue that though the Constitution does impose a restriction in this respect on the Legislature, it imposes none on the people, and that therefore they can properly act on the matter. To this we reply that the people, so long as they profess to be governed by Constitutional forms, must respect those forms, and cannot change them unless they do so under authority therein contained. And this was the view held by the Democratic party itself in its better and purer days. In 1854 it declared an attempt like the present—to call a Convention to change the the Constitution by a mere majority not provided for in the organic law—TO BE "REVOLUTION, nothing more, nothing less." At that time a similar bill was proposed. The Democracy declared it to be "palpably UNCONSTITUTIONAL and REVOLUTIONARY. It can be supported upon no other ground than upon an appeal to the people of the State against their own organic law." Let the people pause before they take this step.

DEATH OF JUDGE HEATH:—We regret to learn of the sudden death of Hon. R. R. HEATH, occurring at Jefferson, Ashe county, on the 26th ult. Judge HEATH served for many years on the Superior Court Bench in this State and was personally known by many of our citizens. He removed to Memphis, Tenn. in 1865.

THE CAROLINA ERA.—This is the title of a new Republican paper just started in Raleigh. It is edited by QUINT BUSBEE, Esq. It makes a neat appearance, its selections are excellent and its editorials have the true ring.

THE IMPORTANCE OF DIVERSIFIED AGRICULTURAL INDUSTRY.

It requires no argument to prove that Agriculture is pre-eminently the breast of the State, as well as the principal employment of man. It consequently demands a prominent place in the public mind. The farmer who causes two blades of grass to grow where but one grew before his efforts is not only a public benefactor but he merits more honor than the statesman or soldier. If this be so; if the occupation of the Farmer stands thus high, we submit whether it were not wise for those engaged in this noble calling to reason together and take counsel as to the means to be employed for a still higher place, if possible, before an intelligent public.

For what does the farmer toil? Is it for pleasure or profit, or both? Some for pleasure perhaps; others for profit alone, many for both. For all we have a few words. If they would make their noble pursuit both pleasant and profitable, they have yet to amend in some things, and abandon others. A diversified Agricultural industry sound the key-note to future success.

Let us propound a few practical questions. Is it good policy to plant one crop for a succession of years, in fact, continually upon the same land? Is it good policy to depend upon one crop for the realization of your year's income? Think over these, and then follow us and see whether what we have to say is not correct.

We take the ground that to do either of the above is not only bad policy, but they are dangerous to the best interests of the farmer. Of course there may be isolated instances in which to do either would work no serious evil. But look all over our beautiful and naturally fertile South and behold the evidence sustaining our position. The practice of closely adhering to a single crop has not resulted for the best. Cotton has been the staple crop. This was not necessary. Our soil and climate are adapted for all the grains and grasses. And yet these have been neglected. We repeat, there has been too much cotton, and too little of the other crops. If the cultivation of cotton held its proper ratio to the other crops, it might work well enough, but such is not the case. Cotton should only be raised as a surplus crop, that is, after a sufficiency of the other crops so much of cotton should be put in as can be properly cultivated. The too common habit, however, of our farmers, has been to put in nearly all cotton, and depend upon other sources of supply for what they need besides. The consequence is, they have to pay high prices for pork, corn, hay, oats and flour. Is this good policy? We hold that every farmer in a country blessed as this is should raise all these for himself.

Now what are the practical workings of this system? Do we over state it when we say that poverty, mortgaged crops, agricultural leins, mortgaged real estate, landless and homeless families, high rents, and landlord's levies to secure the payment of rents, are some of the results? Is this all? No. But our article grows too long. We will resume it in our next.

LET US REASON TOGETHER.

We believe that the great mass of the people are honest and want to do right. We further believe that a large majority of those who have been co-operating with the Conservative party are conscientious and are anxious to see the best interests of our good old Commonwealth promoted. We all want peace, security, prosperity. We have had enough of turmoil, enough of strife, enough of revolution. These have done us no good—so far from it, they have retarded our progress and damaged our material interests beyond computation. Then let us calmly reason together.

That our Constitution contains some imperfections we all admit. A few changes would be salutary, and in due time—when our people are less excited and better prepared for so grave a work—ought to be made. The instrument provides two modes by which this may be done. One is by a Convention of the people. But this Convention must be called in the way pointed out—by a two-third vote of the General Assembly. The present call was made by a mere majority vote. Hence it is not legal, and to vote for a Convention thus called would only tend to further unsettle things, add to the turmoil, increase the strife and in the end bring about another revolution. Are we prepared for this? Is it wise to run the risk? Give this matter your earnest thought, for we tell you it is a serious question.

The evils in our Constitution can be removed in another way—by the other plan provided in that instrument. That is by legislation. This mode is peaceful, legal and proper. It also avoids the great expense. Instead of the excitement, risk and expense of a Convention, let this other mode be adopted and the thousands of dollars that would be squandered by a Convention appropriated in relieving the onerous taxation of the people.

We have had money enough spent in this State. Bad as the former Legislature was in this respect, the last one was fully as censurable—nay worse because it promised economy but falsified its pledges. It spent a Hundred Thousand Dollars of the peoples money in Impeachment trials instead of turning their attention to the relief of the burthens oppressing them. Are the tax-payers of North Carolina willing to go on piling up our debt and taxes mountain high? If not, let us begin by voting against Convention in August next.

The Northern Democracy—the portion wanting office—are straining their lungs blowing their bugles against our Republican Jericho. It won't avail. The Baltimore Gazette is frank about the matter. It says "the great blunder which the Northern Democracy makes is setting up a platform as a mark for its antagonist. The outside party wants no platform. Its policy is to get in." Here we have, as the Columbus (Ga.) Sun said of JEFF DAVIS' Atlanta speech, "the whole truth in a nut-shell."

WILL HE FIGHT?

A month or so ago Gov. CALDWELL, acting under the impulse of passion excited by a libellous article in the Sentinel, wrote its editor a "certificate of character." The next day, feeling that he had humiliated himself by stooping to notice the slanderer, he published an apology to the public. In a few days the editor of the Sentinel, knowing the Governor could not accept, sent him a challenge, and because it was not accepted made a great flourish of trumpets about his own courage and the Governors cowadice. Now, if the Sentinel man has the courage to fight, it will be seen by the following "Card" published in the Telegram, that he has an opportunity:

On my return from the mountains, I find in the Sentinel a card from Hon. Josiah Turner, setting forth a correspondence growing out of a card of Gov. Caldwell. It seems from this card, that Mr. Turner regards the calling him "a liar" as sufficient cause to induce him to send a challenge; and in his card he expressly treats it as a challenge to the man and not the the Governor.

In a card forced from me last fall, by a false and malicious libel uttered by Mr. Turner, in his newspaper, I stated that the charge he made was false, and intimated too plainly to be misunderstood, that I held myself responsible to him in the manner usual among gentlemen. Gov. Caldwell, as the public generally expected, could not, and did not, accept his challenge.

I now say that I am ready to answer a challenge from Mr. Turner whenever he chooses to send it; and may I add that my accusation was intended to, and conveys the same idea as if I had used the word "liar." Major Hearne will oblige by sending Mr. T., a copy of his paper containing this card marked.

Respectfully,
W. H. BAILEY.

THE DEATH OF TIMOTHY MORGAN.

History with an iron pen upon her adamantine tablet again has written the name of one who from obscurity by his own inherent worth raised himself to more than common influence; who known and loved in life, like some calm familiar star has "shot suddenly and brightly from our vision," one who moved among the excitements and stirring realities of his time, honored by the respect and confidence of all who knew him, has went swiftly down to the grave, to be seen no more among men, but to be long remembered because of his many virtues.

Such is the tribute that sprang up spontaneous as we heard the sad, and to us startling intelligence that our old friend TIMOTHY MORGAN of Perquimans was dead! We had not learned of his failing health, and the last time he grasped our hand he seemed to us as full of life and vigor as most men of his age. The sad event took place at his home on the morning of the 7th inst. We are informed he had been in feeble health for some months, but the calamity was sudden and unexpected to his immediate friends as he was still up and about and but a few days previous had been in Hertford. The immediate cause of his death was a sudden attack of congestion of the brain.

TIMOTHY MORGAN was a more than ordinary man. To know him was to respect and love him. His proverbial honesty of intention, his sterling common sense and his many amiable qualities gave him the confidence of all. During the war he was a bold, steadfast, outspoken friend of the Union, and since then he has ever been a zealous advocate of the fundamental doctrines of the Republican Party.

Previous to the war he resided in this county, and at one time represented it in the House of Commons. In 1866 he was elected to represent Pasquotank and Perquimans in the Senate. His age we have not learned. We judge he was about 60.

Dr. Palemon John, editor of the Elizabeth City "Carolinian" has been urged by the Republicans of his county to run for the Convention. The Dr. is a Republican and a Northern man, who has settled at Elizabeth City, and has perhaps done more to advance the material interests of that section than any other man in Eastern North Carolina since the war, but he is no office-seeker and respectfully declines to serve. We like him the better for it.—Raleigh Telegram.

We appreciate the compliment. We are not an office seeker, nor are we at present willing to accept office. We are a worker. Though a Northern man, we are now a citizen of this State. Our feelings and interest are identified with this section and this people. We are laboring to advance the public good in our humble way. If the time should ever come—and we are made sensible of the fact—that we can render them more service in office than out of it, we will think about it! But till then we cannot be tempted to vacate the "chair editorial" of the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

LET US HAVE A REPLY.

The Chief Justice of this State, as we understand, takes the ground that the Convention Act is unconstitutional in this, that it refers a matter of legislation to the people. If the Legislature have not power to provide for the election of delegates to a Constitutional Convention, save by a two-third's vote, a fortiori, they have not power by a less majority to let the people call an election. For it must be remembered that the act providing for a Convention is a legislative act and, leaving out of view the Constitutional restriction, the Legislature have not the power to delegate their legislative duties. What have the new Democratic lights in the Constitution to reply to this?

The monthly statement of the Public Debt shows another large and handsome decrease. It is one of the most gratifying features of GRANT'S Administration that every month since his accession to office there has been a large diminishment of what the nation owes. The Presidents pledge to the people in this direction has been well and faithful kept.

THE SUPREME COURT.—The Supreme Court is now in session at Raleigh. We see there are some fifteen cases from this District, some of them heretofore argued and decision to be made at present term. From this county was the State vs: John Turner, convicted at the last Court for stealing an ox. The Clerk below was directed to send up a correct transcript of the record.

JUDGE GASTON'S OPINION.

Read the able opinion of the late Judge GASTON, published on our first page. Well did he say that the Convention of 1835 had toiled in vain if they failed to provide against change of the organic law by bare legislative majorities. That the deliberate will of the people ought to prevail he admitted, so do we: but that a temporary will of the majority, which may be produced by the effervescence of the moment ought to do whatever it pleases—set up and put down Constitutions from day to day, he denied, and, so do we. Read his argument. It is convincing. It does seem that all the really great men of North Carolina have left themselves on the record against all movements like the present one of the Democracy.

The effort of VALLANDIGHAM to raise from the dead is a hard one. Having committed suicide during the war the Northern people will be slow to believe that he can live again.

Our Schools.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

Those of our citizens who take a lively interest in the great cause of education must feel gratified at the success of our schools during the scholastic year soon about to close with the summer vacation.

More children have been in attendance at the schools in Elizabeth City than ever before, the teachers have been more competent to instruct, and, as a consequence, the schools have been better taught than ever before. Nor is this this the case in Elizabeth City alone, for here and there in the country are schools that have been conducted by competent teachers, and in such a manner as to reflect credit upon the teacher as well as the patrons of the school.

I was particular pleased on last Wednesday at witnessing the exercises of the pupils at the Perry School House in Mt. Hermon township. This school has been conducted during the past seven months by Miss Anna Mulford, a lady in every way well calculated to teach.

The exercises commenced by prayer and singing, in both of which the teacher took the lead. The classes were then examined in the different branches that they have been studying—the lowest classes first.

To teach is to instruct, not merely to listen to recitations, and Miss Mulford has proved herself to be a teacher in the proper sense of the word. Her plan of instructing has been to begin at the beginning, and to advance her pupils step by step, instead of attempting to reach perfection at one run and bound.

The Painter may first consider the general outline of the landscape, but if he aims at perfection in his art, he must close and carefully observe, one by one, the prominent features of the scene—the windings of the river, the meadows, the fields and the forests, the undulations of the mountains, the peaks that rise above the range, and the clouds and the skies in the distance. So too if the pupil would succeed he has much more to do than merely glance at the broad field before him, he must observe and carefully consider those things that present themselves most prominently before him.

Miss Mulford has evidently trained her pupils to think, so that her classes can not only recite, but they can reason; they explain the problems they solve, and they show how they arrive at conclusions. I was particularly pleased with the reading classes. They read well, and it was plain to see that the teacher had been battling successfully with the three greatest enemies to the art of reading, namely: rattling, or going with railroad speed, mumbling, or chewing and swallowing the words, and whining, or sing-songing. The children at this school have learned that there are rules for reading, that all the words in the text were put there to be called, that there is a purpose in having the points of punctuation, and there are such things as accent, emphasis &c.

I cannot close this article without mentioning the fact that this school has been carried on by three gentlemen in the neighborhood, viz: Mr. John H. Perry, Mr. William T. White and Mr. James D. Perry. They employed Miss Mulford, at a very liberal salary for this section of country, and made themselves responsible to her for the same. They did not adopt the old fogy plan of first going through the neighborhood to inquire who would subscribe a dollar, or five dollars, but they sought out a good teacher, agreed to pay her a liberal price, and took the chance of the school being patronised. Will not other neighborhoods follow the good example of these gentlemen?

IMMENSE OUT-POURING OF THE PEOPLE. ENTHUSIASM OF THE UNTERRIFIED.

To the Editor of the North Carolinian:

As you have often expressed a desire to receive communications from all portions of the District, containing items of interest to your readers, and fearing that the public will not be enlightened in any other manner, I beg leave to intrude upon your columns with a subject which should appear in an organ of the opposition party. The anxiety occasioned by the thought that a matter of such great importance to the nation may never receive the publicity it deserves and thus be lost to posterity, is the only apology I have to offer.

For several days past notices have been posted in different parts of the county informing the people that the Hon. T. J. Jarvis, (our next Governor,) Maj. L. C. Latham, (our Senator,) and other distinguished speakers, proposed to enlighten the citizens of the county upon the Convention question, on Saturday the 3d inst.

At about 11, A. M., of that day, the services of a diminutive freedman were secured who preambulated the streets ringing a small bell and notifying the sovereigns that the speaking would take place at the Court House immediately after the ringing of the Hotel bell.

At the proper time this immense affair pealed forth its notes and soon after the two Statesmen above named were seen making their way toward the "Halls of Justice," each with an arm full of documents wherewith to anihilate radicalism and corruption. The other speakers distinguished themselves by not putting in an appearance.

Upon their arrival they found the masses assembled to the number of NINE. After waiting some time for the remainder of the crowd, (which did not come,) the "next Governor" started by a circuitous route for the Hotel, where he ordered his horse and departed for his home in Tyrrell a wiser and we trust a better man.

The Hon. Senator, who is a candidate for the Convention notwithstanding the pledge of the Convention members of the Legislature that they would not allow their names to be used, went down the street and announced that he would address his fellow citizens in the new store of Messrs. Hornthal & Bro. But the Messrs. Hornthal's could not see it in that light and as a last resort he invited a crowd of 20 or less into a Bar Room where he harrangued them upon the questions that agitate the country.

His remarks were so effective that it is reported they all took a drink and resolved that the Senator was the only man in the county fit to hold an office of profit.

Such demonstrations, Mr. Editor, show the popular feeling and prove conclusively———but I have already trespassed further upon your columns than I intended and will close by subscribing myself,

Would not friend Russell give the Mercury rates twice each day for a while. Say at 6 A. M., and 2 or 3 P. M.

I would like to compare them with the Temperature here.

Europe.

From the papers of the 6th we learn that the Deputies from sections occupied by Germans are anxious that all disquieting topics of debate should be deferred until the indemnity is paid and the Germans are out of the country. Lieut-Col. Boursier, a Communist, committed suicide just as he was about to be arrested yesterday. Belleville, La Villette and Montrouge are still patrolled day and night. The Mobilized Guards are being replaced by French soldiers returning from Germany. The telegraph lines in France will be working again by Saturday. Victor Hugo has addressed a letter of thanks to the five deputies of the Belgian Chamber who voted against the harsh measure of expulsion against him. Earl de Grey and Ripon appeared in his seat in the House of Lords. He was warmly congratulated on the conclusion of the Treaty of Washington. Mr. Gladstone said in the House of Commons, the existing laws were ample to enable the Government to fulfill the conditions of the treaty.

From the papers of the 7th we see that M. Guizot advocates the admission of the Orleans Princes to seats in the Assembly, and a vote of the nation on the form of government. The appointments of M. Lamhrecht, Minister of the Interior; M. Lefrance, Minister of Agriculture; Gen. Cissy, Minister of War; Leon Sar, Prefect of the Seine, and Gen. Leflo, Ambassador to St. Petersburg, were officially announced yesterday. Postal service is restored in Paris. Twenty thousand Communist prisoners will be transported to New-Caledonia. The trials of Versailles are postponed in consequence of the discovery of documents which make new indictments necessary. Schumacker, the murderer of Gens. Lecomte and Clement—Thomas has been arrested. A solemn high mass was celebrated in Rome yesterday in honor of the priests killed by the Communists. Commercial relations between France and Germany are now on the same footing as before the war. The Roumanian Chambers were opened yesterday by Prince Charles, who was enthusiastically received. The House of Lords has passed the bill authorizing Canada to organize Territorial Governments in the North-west.

From the papers of the 8th we learn a compromise has been effected in the Assembly in relation to the Orleans Princes, by which the decree of exile shall be repealed and their election as deputies declared valid, but the princes are not to take their seats nor are they to engage in intrigues to reach the throne. M. Thiers has assented to this scheme. Paris has suffered, by the fighting and conflagrations, a loss amounting to about 800,000,000 of francs. All the pieces of the Column of Vendome have been found, and the monument will be exactly restored. M. Louis Blanc has written a letter to the Figaro denouncing the Commune. Lullier, the Communist leader, has been arrested. It is said that M. Jules Ferry will be appointed Minister to Washington. M. Picard has been appointed Governor of the Bank of France. M. Rotunde has been appointed Procureur-General. Twenty-five women were killed and fifty injured by a railway accident near Paris, yesterday. The funeral of the late Archbishop of Paris took place yesterday, from the Church of Notre Dame. German navigator, Jean Georges Kohl, died on Tuesday in Bremen, aged sixty-four years. The German Parliament will close about the 15th, but the members will attend the triumphal entry on the 18th. Von Moltka has been on a visit to Strasburg.

From the papers of the 9th we learn that another conflagration broke out in Constantinople on the 7th ins., from four distinct points, giving rise to suspicion of incendiarism. Two hundred houses were in flames at one time, but the wind being light hopes were entertained that the extent of the fire would not be much greater. The St. Petersburg Journal Official relates the presentation of the insignia of the order of Osmanli to the Czar by the Turkish representative. The expressions of statesmen and the Press on this subject indicate a good feeling between the Czar and the Sublime Porte. The Czar arrived in Berlin yasterday, and was met at the railway station by the Emperor William, and escorted to the palace of the Imperial Guard. The Russian campaign against Khiva has been successfully terminated. The Marquis of Gallifet was assassinated in Paris yesterday, by the widow of a Communist who was shot by his orders. M. Thiers favors the Republic as the future Government of the country. Jules Mires, the celebrated French banker, is dead.

From the papers of the 10th but little of interest. Snow feel in Yorkshire, England, on the 9th.

From the papers of the 12th we learn that the French prisoners are rapidly returning from Germany. Trains are running over the Lyons and Mediterranean Railway. The French Government is to return to Paris shortly. The bodies of the slain in Paris are to be transferred to a cemetery outside the city, near Vanvres.

Dr. Torbett, editor of The Kansas City (Mo.) News, who recently destroyed himself with morphine, left a letter to a friend in defense of suicide. He argues with much force and some eloquence the right of a man to take his own life, and declares self-slaughter to be no evidence of insanity, but, on the contrary, at least in many cases, of the highest wisdom. His suicide seems to have been long contemplated, and to have been committed only after much calm and serious reflection.

The New-Orleans Times does not like Vallandigham. It tells stories at his expense, fears he has constituted himself the sexton of the National Democratic Party, declares that in 1868 he managed to wriggle himself to the head of the funeral procession which conducted Horatio Seymour and the party to the grave, and finally complains that he insists upon being in at every funeral of the party, which he has so long served as chief undertaker.

A Startling Phenomenon.

CHICAGO, June 5.—A terrible cyclone devastated a narrow strip of country near Mason City, Ill., last Friday morning. The storm-cloud was first observed gathering on an open prairie, six miles from Mason City, and from this cloud soon shot out three narrower and spire-like cloud columns, which continued to ascend rapidly until they reached and seemed to amalgamate with a passing cloud above. This startling phenomenon then moved slowly toward Mason City, but finally changed its course, much to the relief of the people of that place. A mile from its track, an odor, much like that of burning sulphur, was inhaled by several persons. A gentleman, who was within a hundred yards of the cyclone when it passed, says that small flashes of electricity were constantly visible in the storm column, passing from the earth to the clouds above, and that rapid crackling reports were heard, reminding him most forcibly of volleys of musketry. The pathway of the cyclone was nearly three miles in length, and from 20 to 80 feet in width, and in that pathway not a spear of grass, not a stalk of corn or wheat, not a shrub, and not a particle of vegetation, was left alive. For some distance the earth was literally plowed up to the depth of six inches. The column of whirling air must have been intensely hot, as every geen thing in its path was dried to a crisp. Another feature of the cyclone was that, while its rotary motion must have been of inconceivably great velocity, its forward motion was only about six miles an hour. The outlines of its pathway were so well defined that, five feet from the outer line of total destruction of vegetation of every kind, not a vestige of its effects could be seen. Fortunately, no house stood in the line of the tornado.

General Summary.

The temperance men of Oregon are to hold a State Convention in Salem, on Friday, 16th inst.

Major Cook, who was a trusted member of Lee's staff, is now Principal of the negro high school in Petersburg, Virginia.

An Ohio paper speaks of a man who, in a fit of jealousy "caused the purple tide of life to gurgle forth from the veins of a rival."

All the Atlanta printers went to a picnic on Friday, and so the good citizens of that now thriving Georgia town had no newspapers with their coffee on Saturday morning.

The scandal that a school teacher in Vermont had flogged her uncle is somewhat mitigated when we learn that the uncle is only twelve years old, and was one of her unruly scholars.

The Wilmington (N. C.) Journal hopefully thinks that the apparently possible conflict between the necessities of Northern Democrats and the honor of Southern Democrats can be reconciled by an alliance between the two wings of the party, instead of a fusion.

Alexander H. Stephens publishes a letter four columns long, and coolly tells his correspondent at the end that he will bore him no longer, and that his sincere wish is that he may be more successful in getting the information he desires from other sources than he has from him.

This is the way the Chicago Post puts it: "A fortnight has elapsed since Clement L. Vallandigham arose from his political coffin and set up a cry in the Democratic grave-yard. The response has been returned to him: 'Go back to your grave.'"

H. W. Caldwell, of Indianapolis, great grandson of John Bosino, who leased eight acres of land in New-York City, adjoining the Trinity Church property, in 1773, for ninety-nine years, has recovered the original papers establishing the claim, compromised with the occupants and transferred his individual interests for $1,000,000 cash.

A man named Lewis J. Gilley committed suicide in the Talbot House, Syracuse, N. Y., by taking arsenic. He left a letter in which he stated he was unable to obtain work of any kind, and did not want to be a burden on his friends. He held the position of Deputy County Clerk for nine years. He was also clerk in the Secretary of State's office in Albany two years.

Five children, three white and two black, were bitten by a mad dog in Pallaski, Tenn., one day last week. Madstones were applied promptly to the white children, it is said, with the desired effect, all of them being now well and safe, while the negro children, to whom the mad-stone was not applied, have gone mad. The account says there were several mad-stones in the neighborhood.

Payment of the insurance on the life of the late John E. Hayes, of Savannah, Ga., was resisted on the ground that when he obtained the policy he neglected to inform the company that a short time previously he got into trouble on the street, and was struck on the head by a stone or club, injuring him severely. In a few months he died of brain fever. The jury returned a verdict for the full amount, with interest.

A San Francisco paper says Mrs. Laura D. Fair takes the greatest pains with her toilet in prison, often changing her dress three or four times a day. She passes much of the time before her mirror, and, while admiring herself, says: "The more I see of myself, the more I am convinced I can never be hanged. Such a face and form as mine were never created for the gallows." She modestly asserts she was never so handsome as she is now.

The Charleston Courier has taken to explaining matters. It says: "The world, in its progress, is like a spiral stair-case. We ascend the various rounds in each succeeding year, and these give us broader and clearer visions of the horizon by which we are surrounded;" and then it goes on to talk about the Reconstruction acts, and says: "A building is erected with stone. We may have preferred it to have been of some other material. But still it is useless to deny that it is really a stone structure. And so of the amendments to the Constitution."

MILLIONS Bear Testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects. They are not a vile Fancy Drink, made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics" "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true medicine, made from the native roots and herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and a LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing also, the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful agent in relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and Bowels, which render them of unequaled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the System in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. Say a distinguished physiologist, there is scarcely an individual upon the face of the earth whose body is exempt from the presence of worms. It is not upon the healthy elements of the body that worms exist, but upon the diseased humors and slimy deposits that breed these living monsters of disease. No system of Medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers.

J. WALKER, Proprietor. R. H. McDONALD & CO., Druggists and General Agents, San Francisco, California, and 32 and 34 Commerce Street, New York.

THIS WEEK'S ADVERTISEMENTS.

We call attention to the following new advertisements in this issue.

Piano Tuner.
Bankrupt Sale.
10,000 Watermelons.

Local and Personal.

☞ Court in Currituck this week.

☞ Apples and Pears are appearing in our market.

☞ "Last words of Eminent Men" will appear next week.

☞ Parties wishing their Pianos tuned will note the card of Mr. QUINCY.

☞ We had the pleasure of a friendly call on Saturday form Hon. J. W. ETHERIDGE, of Roanoke Island.

☞ Rev. Dr. BLACKWELL, the Presiding Elder of this District, officiated at the Methodist Church on Sabath last.

☞ The pupils of the Belvidere Academy are having a vacation. It is one of the best Schools in this country.

☞ Will the parties who borrowed copies of our "Atlantic Monthly" be kind enough to return them?

☞ A few weeks ago we alluded to the fact that our corn was in tassel. Yesterday we had some of the corn for dinner.

☞ We learn that twenty-six persons have recently joined the Methodist Church at this place.

☞ We learn that our young townsman, WALTER F. POOL, has been requested, and has consented to deliver an address before the M. E. Sabbath School on Tuesday evening June 20th.

☞ The Corn in this section is growing rapidly. It never looked better at this season. A good crop is now the prospect. The Cotton, too, is beginning to look well.

☞ The new house of G. B. THOMPSON and S. C. DIXON, on Pennsylvania Avenue, are a great improvement to the new addition of our City. They are put up in modern style, with taste and an eye to comfort and convenience as well as outward appearance.

☞ A correspondent from Currituck informs us of the death of an aged lady near Poplar Branch, in that county, named NANCY WILLIAMS, aged 96 years. She died on the 30th ult. She ate her supper in usual health and died before midnight. She leaves a sister 98 years of age.

☞ It is certainly good counsel to ask the Democracy to forget the past, accept in good faith what the Republicans have accomplished, declare without reservation for the reconstruction acts and constitutional amendments as finalities. But will the rank and file take the advice? That's the question.

☞ The Republicans of this county will hold an anti-Convention meeting in the Court House on Saturday July 1st, at 10 o'clock A. M. An anti-Convention Candidate will be nominated. Speeches will be made by Hon. JOHN POOL, Hon. C. L. COBB and others. The Democrats will hold their Convention on the 17th of July.

☞ "Student" attempts to help "Modesty" out of his dilemma by explaining him how to "pop the question." As he has had "ten years experience in this line of business" he must have began young and as he persevered evidently has had a good many refusals. This being so, what encouragement has "Modesty" what his essay is of any value?

☞ We like to see good gardens and never miss a proper opportunity to visit one. The other day our friend ARTHUR L. JONES, Esq., kindly invited us to see his. It is a garden, the productions of which will nearly equal a small farm. Corn, potatoes, cabbages, cucumbers, onions, beets, tomatoes—everything in the truck line. Mr. JONES is demonstrating what manure and cultivation will do.

☞ Mr. DIXON, of the Planing Mill, is prepared to manufacture the latest styles of brackets, moulding and paling for yard fences. As a sample of the latter we invite our friends and especially those needing new fence, to call around and see the style just put up for us. A little taste in this respect not only makes a decided improvement but adds to the beauty of a town. Mr. DIXON has patterns in sufficient variety to please the most fastidious. Let us have more ornamental fences in Elizabeth City.

☞ We learn that the District Conference of the M. E. Church at Edenton on the 31st ult was largely attended by clerical and lay delegates. Bishop PIERCE, of Georgia, presided. This Conference has in its bounds 18 traveling and 19 local preachers, a membership of 5,500, and church property valued at $25,459. JAMES M. WHEDBEE, of our City, was elected as one of the delegates to the next session of the Virginia Annual Conference to be held at Portsmouth in November next. The next District Conference will be held at Murfresboro.

☞ By the following announcement, which we clip from the Washington Chroniele, it will be seen that we are about to have a daily mail:

Contract office Order—On new route 5,943, Edenton, N. C., to Norfolk, Va., contract is ordered with W. A. Harney, of Elizabeth City, N. C., (James A. Stott agreeing to the change,) at same rate of pay, $1,935. Also, increase service between Norfolk and Elizabeth City to six times a week, and allow $1,151 50 per annum additional pay for the 47 miles distance.

The right man has got the contract, and it is to his perseverance, assisted by our Representative Hon C. L. COBB, that we are indebted for this important change in our mail facilities. Our business men and the public generally appreciate the efforts of our gallant friend Capt. HARNEY in trying to serve them. Long may he wave!

☞ Several interesting communications crowded out this week. They will not spoil because of the delay.

☞ We return our special thanks to our friend J. C. Perry for that basket of excellent Peaches. How we relished them!

☞ Capt. WATERS is ahead! He has brought us a stalk of Oats measuring six feet seven inches! It measured one and a half inches in circumference.

☞ The proceedings of the first meeting of the City Commissoners appear in this issue. The report of the last meeting has not yet been handed in. They will appear regularly, hereafter, in the NORTH CAROLINIAN.

☞ The old Market House is to be removed. The edict has gone forth, its doom is sealed, and the people say amen. At the City Commissioner's meeting on Monday it was decided to sell it at Public Auction on July 1, to be removed in sixty days thereafter.

☞ The proceedings of the Conservative Meeting at Newland come too late for this issue. As the NORTH CAROLINIAN has a large number of Conservative patrons in that section we will give them a hearing in our next paper, exercising our editorial right to make such comments as we deem warranted by the facts bearing on the case.

☞ His Honor Judge BROOKS is still at Raleigh, holding, with Judge BOND, the United States Court. We learn there is considerable business on both the criminal and civil dockets. From the Raleigh Telegram of the 8th inst we clip the following:

Jas. H. Shaw, Esq., from Pennsylvania, applied for permission to practice before the court, which was granted, upon his taking the usual oath.

Mr. SHAW is now a resident of this city and is an able lawyer.

☞ One of the great advantages of this country is the opportunities it offers for the early maturing of vegetables, enabling truckers to get them the first in market One gentleman informs us that from his early Irish potatoes he netted this season one hundred and sixty dollars an acre. Off eight acres of strawberries, four acres of peas and two of potatoes Mr. J. C. PERRY informs us that he has netted over two thousand dollars. Vegetables and truck can be sent to the Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York markets at least ten days in advance of Norfolk or any point North of us. And the Commission Merchants of the cities inform us that the fruit and vegetables from this section are sounder and arrive in better condition—commanding better prices—than from any other locality from Maryland to Florida.

☞ The new Board of City Commissioners mean business. The rule of old foggydom is over and the do nothing policy played out. A system is being inaugurated that will result in great good—benefit the town, the property the people—all. Nuisances against good taste and the public health will be looked after and abated, the streets will be opened, bridges will be built, and all without any perceptible increase in taxation. Instead of the common poll tax, one half of which was never collected, a labor tax has been imposed, requiring every man between the age of 18 and 50, he be rich or poor, to work on the streets one, two, or three days each year as the necessities may demand, either going himself, sending a substitute or paying his dollar. This makes it fair and equal. The man who has property, in addition to paying his tax, is obliged to furnish as much work as the man who has none. Boys, get your hoes and shovels in order, ready to respond to the call when made.

AGRICULTURAL, HORTICULTURAL AND DOMESTIC MATTERS.

Pear Culture.

There is a great deal said in regard to the mode and manner of pear culture. My experience is that it matters little what kind of soil or situation they are on so that they get the proper kind of treatment. Keep the ground well mulched, and water them with soapsuds and manure water.

We seldom prune except to cut off the ends of the branches where they grow beyond their strength to support themselves. We have been able to show more good fruit for the number of trees than any other pear-grower I have ever yet seen. We are able to prefect all the fruit. If the branches are likely to break, when overburdened, we prop them. My impression is that there are some varieties will answer better in different localities. We have a succession of some of the best fruit from the Seventh month until the last of the First month of the following year. We ripen in our cellarvault, having tables covered with sawdust about two or three inches deep, which absorbs the superabundant moisture and prevents the fruit from wilting. You can also inspect the fruit without handling, which injures it. Sometimes we cover them with paper when they incline to wilt. This will also prevent them from getting moist in very damp weather.—Cor. of Germantown Telegraph.

A Cure for Hog Cholera.

Mr. George T. Mering, residing near Carrollton, Md., furnishes us with a recipe for hog cholera:

Rub the throat well with tar; take one gill of whiskey, in which mix one ounce of the tincture of assafœtida; then mix one-fourth of a pound each of cinnamon bark, allspice and cloves, put them into half a gallon of water and boil until reduced to a quart; take the same quantity of this decoction and mix with the whiskey and assafœtida and give to each hog. Mr. M. says those hogs that were so much afflicted as not to be able to take the dose he drenched twice, and a cure was made. When slightly sick, it was given in their slops. This recipe was given to Mr. Mering by a physician, and has been used several times successfully. Nearly all his hogs were sick; one died before the medicine was administered, and several were not able to walk, but after two or three doses they began to improve.

REARING CHICKENS.—The following are some rules that it would be well to observe in rearing chickens:

1. Keep the chickens in a warm, clean, dry coop.

2. Don't let them run out in the morning until the sun has removed the dew from the grass.

3. Let them have plenty of food and fresh water.

4. Don't let the chicks have access to slops or stagnant water.

Rules for keeping the henery in proper order:

1. Clean out every day, and sprinkle a handful of lime.

2. Sprinkle ashes over the floor two or three times a week. Frequently change the straw or hay forming the nests, and whitewash the nest-boxes at every renewal, and twice a year thoroughly whitewash the whole interior of the house.—Exchange.

FIVE WAYS TO DESTROY ANTS.—1. Pour copiously hot water, as near the boiling point as possible, down their burrows and over their hills, and repeat the operation several times.

2. Entrap the ants by means of narrow sheets of stiff paper or strips of board, covered with some sweet, sticky substance. The ants are attracted by the sweet, and, sticking fast, can be destroyed as often as a sufficient number are entrapped.

3. Lay fresh bones around their haunts. They will leave everything else to attack these, and when thus accumulated, dip them in hot water.

4. Pour two or three spoonfuls of coal oil into their holes, and they will abandon the nest.

5. Bury a few slices of onions in their nests, and they will abandon them.

ORANGE MARMALADE.—Cut the oranges in half, then take out the pulp and juice, separating all the skins and pips. Put the rinds into salt and water for a night; the next morning put them into a stewpan with fresh water. Let them stew until soft, so that a strrw can run through them easily. Cut the peels into thin strips. To every pound of fruit add one pound and a half of coarse white sugar. Put the juice, pulp and peel, with sugar, into the stewpen, and let it boil twenty minutes. Seville ornages must be used, and the marmalade is better if kept six months. The juice are gratad rind of two lemons to every dozen oranges is a great improvement.

TO REMOVE THE TASTE OF WOOD.—A new keg, churn, bucket, or other wooden vessel, will generally communicate a disagreeable taste to anything that is put into it. To prevent this inconvenience, scald the vessel well with boiling water, letting the water remain in it until cold; then dissolve some pearlash or soda in lukewarm water, adding a little lime to it. Wash the inside of vessel well with this solution. Afterward scald it well with hot water, and rinse with cold water before you use it. The reason for this is the ready combination of resinous matter with alkalies to form compounds soluble in alcohol.

TO STOP BLEEDING.—It is said that bleeding from a wound, on a man or beast, may be stopped by a mixture of wheat flour and common salt, in equal parts, bound on with a cloth. If the bleeding be profuse, use a large quantity, say from one to three pints. It may be left on for hours, or even days, if necessary. The person who gave us this recipe says that, in this manner, he saved the life of a horse which was bleeding from a wounded artery; the bleeding ceased in five minutes after the application.

GRAPE MARMALADE.—Put green grapes, when fullgrown and clear, into a preserving-pan with only sufficient water to cover them from burning; spinach juice may be added if you wish to give the jam a more decided color. Boil them gently until soft enough to mash; run the pulp through a sieve sufficiently fine not to allow the seeds to pass through. To each pound add a pound and a half of the finest sugar, and boil to the consistence of jelly.

David Hoffman of Wooster, O., is the proprietor of a strictly first-class haunted house, wherein spirits, or something else, play the most fantastic and mischievous tricks. Among other things the invisible presences carry off and destroy money, clothing, and furniture; thrust pins into the inmates when asleep, and so prosecute and annoy them that they are well nigh crazed. Hoffman himself is financially ruined. Hundreds of the citizens have visited the house, and tried in vain to unravel the mystery.

Advices from Hong Kong, China, to May 26, represent that a coolie ship, bound from Macao to Callao, was recently burned at sea, and that 600 of the coolies perished in the flames.

DESCRIPTIVE CATALOGUE.

OF VALUABLE

NORTH CAROLINA LANDS,

FOR SALE BY

GEORGE D. POOL.

Real Estate Agent,

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C.

In presenting my list of lands and other properties for sale, I would say that no section of the United States offers such inducements for capitalists and emigrants, as this section of North Carolina. In longevity and healthfulness, it will compare favorably with any where; and in easy and cheap transportation of products to market, in pleasantness of climate, in the sociability of the people, in great fertility, and durability of soil, no section can equal it.

A railroad will soon be built to Weldon, putting this place in direct communication by Rail, with the whole United States. This, together with our great fishing, farming and manufacturing interests, and certain early completion of already projected works of improvement for putting in nearer, cheaper and easier communication with the Ocean, will render this one of the most important commercial, and manufacturing points on the Southern country.

A Steam Saw and Grist Mill in the town of Nixonton 8 miles from E. City. This Mill has a fine wharf and store attached on deep navigable water, the engine is 40 horse power, and all in good order. It is one of the finest locations to be found any where for custom work, and for getting good saw logs easily and cheaply. Price $4,000 cash.

Adjoining the mill property is 40 acres of fine land on the River, with three houses, all for $1200. Near the same is a good two story dwelling and 13 acres of land for $2,000, and a good one story dwelling, with one acre of land for $300.

Also two fine farms in Pasquotank county, 10 miles from E. City, within half mile of church, school house and post office. One tract contains about 400 acres, with fair buildings and mostly cleared, and the other contains 300 acres, with good two story dwelling, large barn, and other outhouses, both are offered at $20 per acre, one third cash, balance in one and two years.

Also one other tract in Pasquotank county, containing 116 acres, within one mile of the town with fine buildings, mostly cleared and in cultivation. Price $25 per acre, one half cash, balance in 12 months.

A valuable site for a hotel at Nag's Head, 40 miles from Elizabeth City, and 50 miles from Edenton. This is situated immediately on the Ocean, and is a famous Summer resort for invalids, and those seeking health, comfort, and amusements during the summer months. It is in direct communication by steamboats and railroad with all parts of North Carolina, Virginia, and the North; and is equal in natural advantages to Newport, or Cape May. Visitors flock to this famous summer resort by hundreds and thousands, and a large amount of money can be made by a hotel. A charter has been obtained from the Legislature of N. C., for a joint stock company to build the hotel. There is now an old hotel on the spot, which could be cheaply repaired and bought for $3,000. This hotel, though imperfectly kept, cleared the proprietor last season, over $3,000. For a man or a company, having some capital, this is one of the finest chances to make money at hotel keeping to be found anywhere. The early attention of the public is invited to this property.

A fine steam saw and grist mill at Hertford, the county seat of Perquimans County, N. C., 18 miles from Elizabeth City. This mill has a fifty horse power engine, now in good running, two pairs of best French burr stones, and two upright saws. The house has a brick basement, and the building is large and in good order. There is one and a half acres of land belonging to this property, and a good two story dwelling, and other out-houses. The section of country adjacent abounds in the finest yellow pine, cypress, ash, poplar, and other valuable timber. This property originally cost $15,000, and is now offered at forced sale for the low price of $3,500, $7,00, cash, and the balance in six equal instalments, six months apart each with interest.

A fine farm and fishery in same county. The farm contains 400 acres of the finest land, lies immediately on Albemarle Sound where the water is 12 miles wide, and 18 to 20 feet deep, has got buildings, and fine neighborhood. The fishery is on the farm and goes with it. It has a new seine 2,500 yards long, and all the necessary boats, buildings, &c., (which cost over $15,000 two years ago.) The fishery alone, of a good season, will make from 5 to $10,000 profit to the owner. This property is offered at forced sale for the low price of $20,000, $7,000 cash, balance on easy times.

A store at South Mills, in Camden county, 20 miles from E. City, and 20 miles from Norfolk, lying on the canal where steamers pass daily. A fine chance for merchandize. Store is large with dwelling above containing six rooms, is in first rate order, has office, kitchen, dairy, and other necessary outhouses. Goods to the amt. of $50,000 per annum can be sold here, and at large profits. A splended stand for a country retail store. Price $2,500—one third cash, balance in one and two years.

A valuable tract of land in Camden county, at South Mills, on the Dismal Swamp Canal, lying on the canal for two miles, containing over 900 acres of land—two-thirds cleared, and in a fine state of cultivation, with good buildings, &c.; balance in valuable timber. Price $12,000, one-third cash, balance in one and two years, interest from January, 1871. This is a valuable farm for corn, wheat, and vegetables, and being midway between Elizabeth City and Norfolk, and located where steamers pass by the door daily, is a desirable and cheap property.

A fine farm of 600 acres within six miles of E. City, one mile from navigable water, and the best cotton farm in the State. It is also well adapted to raising corn and wheat. This farm has a splended two-story dwelling upon it, large barn, 40 by 60 feet, a large number of outhouses, by splended trees and shrubbery, is in a strong Union neighborhood, and altogether the most desirable place in the county. A little over one-half of this land is cleared, and the balance is covered with the finest yellow pine, poplar, ash and other timber. Price $30 per acre—one-third cash, balance in one and two years with interest. Title reserved.

Sixteen houses and lots in Elizabeth City, with good dwellings, out-houses, &c. Prices and terms reasonable.

A valuable farm in Perquimans county, N. C. near navigable water. Has a fine dwelling-house with ten rooms, in splended order, with splended barns and stables—all in first rate order. The farm is very productive in corn, oats, wheat, cotton and clover. It is one of the finest farms in the State and is now in good cultivation, contains 585 acres of land, about three-fourths cleared and under cultivation. Price $10,000, one-third cash January 1, next, balance in two equal annual instalments with interest at the rate of six per cent.

A farm of 370 acres 8 miles from town by water, and 12 miles by land, is offered for sale for $10,000 in easy payments. This tract of land lies immediately on the River which is 4 miles wide and washes the farm its whole length on one side, and a branch of the River one mile wide, binds it on one end. The land is well adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, peas, &c., lies high and dry, and is susceptible of the highest improvement. Fronting and looking over, as it does, two large sheets of navigable water, where steamers and sailing vessels are constantly passing, carrying freight and passengers to all parts of the country, its location and surroundings, are of the most fascinating and desirable character. There is a fishery on it ready for working a seine 2,500 yards long, and which commands a portion of both streams of water, and can be made immensely profitable. The price charged is low, and the purchase a very desirable one. The buildings consist of a good two-story dwelling and out-houses.

A tract of valuable land, containing 356 acres, with fine two story dwelling containing 9 rooms and cook-room. Servant's house with 3 rooms, large barns and stables, all necessary and convenient out-houses, 3 tenant-houses near town, and immediately on the River. About 100 acres of this land is in fine wood and timber, balance in a fine state of cultivation. It has 8,000 grape vines one year old, 3,500 peach, apple and dwarf pear trees, five acres in strawberries which yielded an immence profit this year, ten acres in Lawton and other rare varieties of black-berries, 15 to 20,000 young peach trees with other choice fruits too numerous to mention. This farm has a public road on one side, and the River on the other, where strangers come daily to the landings to receive the fruits and vegetables, and carry them down to Norfolk, Baltimore, Phila., or New York. The land is finely adapted to raising corn, wheat, cotton, oats, and all other field crops.

The owner of this farm offiers to sell in tracts, to suit purchasers, say in 50 to 100 acre tracts, and at prices ranging from 35 to $80 per acre, according to location, buildings, &c.

There is also on this farm a fine fishery, where a seine 1,000 yards long, and 20 feet deep is hauled every Spring. Herring, Shad, Rockfish, Sturgeon and other valuable fish, are caught by thousands at every draw of the seine. And the profits are frequently large. This fishery of itself is worth nearly as much as is charged for the whole property. The terms will be liberal. This is probably the finest opportunity offered any where for a profitable investment.

☞ Fishery has an office, and two houses for hands besides fish house. Then some 500 to 1,000 loads of best fish manure on hand, besides over 5,000 loads of compost made ready for use. This goes with the farm.

A desirable house and lot in the town of Elizabeth City on the corner of two principal streets, the principal one, and situated in the best business locality in the town. The lot contains about two acres of land, and the buildings consist of a fair dwelling three stories high, containing eight rooms, all in good order, another two story building with four rooms and pantries, dairy, smokehouses, stables, &c. The dwelling has a good cellar under it. There is room on the front lot to erect two good stores, and they would occupy the best stand in the town for merchandize.

TO THE PUBLIC.

THE LAND AND LUMBER COMPANY having a large amount of Real Estate of their own to dispose of, and their business having increased to such an extent, they think it prudent to decline acting further as Commission Agents for the sale of lands belonging to others. They will however be glad at all times to furnish every facility to parties coming to Elizabeth City with a desire to look at the country and make purchases if they find it to their interest to do so.

The following list of property, owned by the Company, is offered for sale on the most reasonable terms. Their object now is to acquire a larger monied capital for the purpose of further developing their unimproved lands and carrying out their original design of increasing the Commerce and General Trade of Elizabeth City.

As there are others in the Commission Business, parties are referred to their advertisement for further information.

ELIZABETH CITY.

The following desirable list of Properties in Elizabeth City are offered at very reduced prices for cash or on time payments at rates which make any of them excellent investments for capitalists. We feel confident that this City is destined to become a large place and property will advance rapidly. Emigration is now tending Southernward and the feeling is in universal favor toward Elizabeth City.

A large two-story dwelling known as the Parsonage, with fine double Piazza, front and back, large out kitchen, stables, carriage house, with 17 acres of ground well enclosed. This ground is all within the corporation of the City, and is well situated to lay out in building lots and make out of it ten fold the price asked for it.

A two-story dwelling containing ten rooms, 10,000 gallon cistern and all necessary out-houses, with large lot. Situated on Main Street. A Vacant Lot no better located and not so large as this was sold recently for $1600 cash.

A large brick store house and wharf situate on Water street; in E. City, comprising three lots with 400 feet of water front, permanently wharfed for the accommodation of large vessels. There is erected on these lots a large two-story brick building, 50 by 80 feet, well fitted up for a wholesale or retail trade at present occupied by the "Yankee Store."

A large wood store on west side of Water street 36 by 60, two stories high, being one of the best stands on Water street for merchandizing.

A House and Lot on Riverside Avenue. House 20ft front by 50 ft deep. Containing eight rooms with Pantry and Cellar, all well finished, modern style, and having all necessary out buildings. The lot contains a front of 400 ft, and would be a good location for a large shop or foundry as one whole side fronts on the water.

Also a large number of Wharf Lots, Mill Lots and Vacant Lots at very low prices, some of which are enumerated below. The Wharf Lots are 200ft deep and will be sold to any size desired along the River. Among them are some most eligible situations for Store Houses, Mills and Manufactories of any kind as there is a fine harbor immediately in front of them, having 30ft of water, sufficient for vessels of any capacity. Along Pennsylvania Avenue are offered some of the finest and choicest lots, for dwellings in town at prices varying according to location. This will be the finest street in town, is 80 feet wide, size of Lot 100ft front by 200ft deep. There are now a number of first class residences being erected on this street. Immediately in the vicinity of these Lots the Company have erected a large Planing Mill, Sash, Blind and Door Factory at a cost of near $20,000 and also their Saw Mill at a cost of near $15,000. That now is the proper time to invest in those Lots there can be no doubt, as they will double in value in a very short time. Lots not near so good as these, are now selling in other parts of the City at more than double the price asked for these.

VACANT LOTS.

Lots Nos. 150, 155, 158, 161, 163, 165, 167, 170, 172, 175, 178, 180, 182, 185, 187, 190, 193, 195, 198 and 200, situate on Pennsylvania avenue, in the new extension of Elizabeth City, all choice lots, intended for the better class of residences. Size of lots 100 feet front by 200 feet deep. Price varying, according to location, from $100 to $1000.

TOWN LOTS.

MILL LOTS.

Four Mill-Lots situated on Knobb's Creek, so that logs can be taken from the creek to the mill. These lots have 200 feet each of water front, and over 600 feet deep to Mill street, and are choice sites. The purchaser will also have the right of storage for logs in the boom.

PASQUOTANK COUNTY.

The Land and Lumber Company also offer for sale, one thousand acres of their timbered land along the Main Road leading from Elizabeth City to Hertford and Edenton, Said land heavily wooded, soil very rich and about four miles from Elizabeth City. This land will be sold in lots to suit purchasers and at the low price of ten dollars per acre.

They also offer a tract of three thousand acres in Lots to suit purchasers, near the Pasquotank River, ten miles from Elizabeth City and three miles from South Mills. This land is heavily set with wood and also has upon it a vast amount of saw timber, and has a most excellent soil. This is a fine location for a small Colony. There is now a Public Road running directly through it. This tract is offered at the low price of eight dollars per acre if sold to one party, or at only a fraction more if divided into small lots.

The Company will also sell their farm of 250 acres two miles from Elizabeth City. 125 acres cleared and under good cultivation, well fenced, having upon it two dwelling houses, one new and the necessary out buildinos wanted on a farm, and will be sold on very reasonable terms.

Also another farm one mile from Elizabeth City containing one hundred acres, between thirty and forty acres cleared and under cultivation, the balance is now being cut off and is nearly ready to be cleared up and cultiuated. This property is very desirable being so near the City though for reasons first given will be sold at a very low price.

We have a finely timbered tract of land situated on the Albemarle Sound twenty miles from Elizabeth City, containing 124 acres. Good timber land bordering on the water is valuable both for wood as well as saw timber as water trausportation affords a good margin for wood, say one dollar per cord. This will also make good farm land—will be sold for one thousand dollars.

Also one other tract of land containing 154 acres situated immediately on the Pasquotank River ten miles from Elizabeth City, valuable for wood, and is excellent farming lands, would be sold for six dollars per acre.

GATES COUNTY.

The Land & Lumber Company have a tract of 380 acres of timbered land one half mile from Chowan River and three miles from Winton the county seat of Hertford county. This body of land is well timbered and will be sold at the low price of three dollars per acre.

☞ The most direct and cheapest route is to go to Baltimore by N. C. R. R., then Bay Line steamer to Norfolk, Va., then steamer to Elizabeth City, N. C.
